

Minisymposium & Research market

"PIMP my PhD"

Friday afternoon 14 September PhD candidates of CAPHRI's Research Line Functioning & Rehabilitation organize the second edition of "PIMP my PhD". During this event, various topics will be discussed relevant to practice-oriented research. It is an excellent opportunity to meet and interact with colleague researchers in related fields, and to broaden your horizon.

For whom?

This second edition of "PIMP my PhD" includes a minisymposium, primarily focused on junior researchers and PhD students, and a research market, open to all staff of Functioning & Rehabilitation.

Date and time

The event will take place on Friday afternoon 14 September 2018 from 1 to 5 pm.

Program

13.00	Welcome
13:10	Opening and introduction
13.15	How to manage your career as a PhD Presentation by Olga Reneerkens, PhD, and Katinka Bastin Staff Career Center, Maastricht University
13.45	Mixed methods: 1 + 1 = 3 Presentation by Ilse Mesters, PhD Dept. of Epidemiology, Maastricht University

Research market

Researchers (student/junior/senior) can show their research, or related activities. You can do this by posters and/or demonstrations. Tables, poster boards as well as electricity are available. Please take your own beamer and screen if you want to show movies or pictures. Be creative and entertaining!

Location

MUMC+, Maastricht

Minisymposium: Flendrigzaal, level 4 | Research market: Terrace, level 4.

Registration

If you want to participate and/or present your research (group) at the research market, please register by e-mail to Simone Sep, PhD coordinator (see contact). PIMP my PhD is free of charge. Please indicate if you need a poster board or table. Deadline: 3 September 2018.
